Kazakhstan's modern capital is continuously growing and changing. It is becoming increasingly attractive both for the people of Kazakhstan and for foreign visitors. Its modern architecture, which combines the best European and oriental traditions, fully reflects the new capital's role as an economic, political and cultural center. On 22 November 2012, the Bureau International des Expositions voted to select Astana, Kazakhstan as the host of Expo 2017.

- Today, Kazakhstan is firmly integrated into the international community. We are open for investments, partners and modern technology. Anyone who has ever been to our capital is imbued with the spirit of Astana. EXPO in Astana with the participation of at least 120 countries and international organizations will be further evidence that the authority and the country's image in the world is earned by peace initiatives and projects aimed at sustainable and dynamic development, – President of the Republic of Kazakhstan Nursultan Nazarbayev said
