TRULY NATURAL COSMETICS – how to distinguish them from others?

Many unreliable producers abuse the terms ‘natural’ and ‘organic’.

We provide a guide to recognizing whether a cosmetic is really natural or not.

1. Natural and organic cosmetics have to contain plant natural and natural origin ingredients constituting not less than 95% of all ingredients in whole formulation. In NATURAL – at least 5%, in ORGANIC – at least 10% of ingredients should originate from certified organic plantations.
2. Those plantations do not use pesticides, artificial fertilizers and other chemical substances.
3. The constant control of the quality of natural and organic cosmetics is provided by independent certifying organisations, such as ECOCERT, BDIH, NaTrue, Soil Association, Cosmebio or COSMOS. To be sure, look for the logo of one of these on the packaging of the cosmetic!
4. The order of listed ingredients is also very important. Those of which there is the most in the cosmetic should be listed first, and in the end those, which are used in very tiny quantities.
5. The ingredients of cosmetics ought to consist of natural raw materials, plants and minerals. Also colourings, emulsifiers, preservatives and perfumes have to be derived from plants.
6. It is inadmissible to use petrochemical products, raw materials from genetically modified plants (GMO), of animal origin (except for those naturally produced by animals: waxes, milk, lanolin) and most synthetic ingredients.
7. Only physical processes can be used to convert ingredients (extraction, distillation, filtration, pressing, drying).
8. Product packaging must be fit for recycling or be produced from recyclable material.
9. The production of cosmetics should favour the protection of the environment and must not contribute to the pollution of air and water.
10. The producer has to have a separate production line and fulfil restrictive requirements when it comes to the hygiene of production, stock-keeping, packing and labelling of cosmetics and raw materials.
11. Natural and organic cosmetics must not contain prohibited ingredients: mineral oils and other petroleum products (i.a. paraffin, petrolatum), parabens (methyl, propyl and butyl), ethoxylated substances (PEG), propylene glycol, silicones, phthalates, sodium lauryl sulphate (SLS, SLES), ethanolamines (MEA, DEA, TEA), synthetic colorings and perfumes.

Hydro Laser

Revolution in skin hydration – action on five layers of epidermis.
One day of Hydranov™ treatment = 14 days of hyaluronic acid treatment.

A unique line of cosmetics with extremely high effectiveness, optimally moisturizes skin on all five layers, from the surface to its basic layer. As a result, it slows down the ageing process. The series is based on a revolutionary ingredient Hydranov™ – obtained from red algae Fucellaria lumbricallis, which activates the synthesis of epidermal hyaluronic acid in the dermis, thoroughly rebuilds and nourishes the epidermis, stimulates the production of ceramides and fills wrinkles from the inside. It increases skin hydration level in four hours after a single application.
